Subject: Ethical Governance Day 2014

October 29, 2014 has been declared Ethical Governance Day by the Miami-Dade Commission on Ethics and Public Trust.

That day, hundreds of volunteers will be going into high school classrooms around Miami-Dade County to speak on the importance of civic participation as an avenue to promote more ethical government at all levels.

The Miami-Dade Commission on Ethics and Public Trust is looking for public officials, civic leaders and public administrators to join in this community conversation by sharing their knowledge and insight with the generation of voters.

I encourage you, and members of your management team, to consider becoming a volunteer speaker for this very important project.

Volunteers may donate their time by spending the entire day or any portion of the day in one or more high school classrooms for this event. You may indicate a school preference, which will be accommodated whenever possible. While the Commission on Ethics and Public Trust will provide suggested talking points, speakers are encouraged to draw upon their own stories and background in their presentations to connect personally with students.

To participate in Ethical Governance Day on October 29, 2014, you may sign up online at www.miamidadeethics.com or call the Commission on Ethics at 305-579-2594.
