

Harvey Ruvin

MIAMI-DADE CLERK OF COURT

In these generally difficult financial times, Miami-Dade continues to carefully apply a conservative fiscal management approach.

Implementation of our major General Obligation Bond for infrastructure construction approved in 2004 is on track. This is an important piece so that recent construction has the necessary concurrent urban elements to support it as the real estate market returns viability.

The Clerk's Office continues to move forward in advancing technology to improve efficiencies and access to the public and official records. Our motto being "we want to serve more and more of the public 'on-line' rather than 'in-line'."

With the world's first fully paperless traffic court under our belt, we are moving forward toward the goal of eliminating all paper files eventually. This will save money, time and space and increase efficiencies and public accessibility.

I deeply appreciate our Finance Department staff, in particular its Bond Administration Division, for the pride and thoroughness apparent in the preparation of this fully compliant Annual Report to Bondholders.

Sincerely,

Harvey Ruvin
Clerk of Court
