Ciclovía is Coming!

Who?

The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) District Six Office proudly announces a ciclovía (Car-Free Day) to be held on Sunday, December 14 on SW 8 Street in historic Little Havana, within the City of Miami.

Why?

The purpose of the ciclovía is to engage our community in Little Havana and throughout Greater Miami, promote healthy living and active transportation options, and communicate to people who use our roads about FDOT's many safety programs and initiatives.

FDOT welcomes interest from potential community partners involved in promoting health, active living, bicycling and walking, multi-modal transportation, safety in transit, and the Greater Miami community.

Our Partners

Partners are sought who will support this event through cross-promotion, provision of free and family-friendly activities and entertainment. Please note that there are no opportunities for vendors at the ciclovía.
