Agenda Item No. 3(A)

To: Honorable Chairman Bruno A. Barreiro and Members, Board of County Commissioners

From: George M. Burgess
County Manager

Subject: Ordinance Designating the Miami-Dade County Office of Community and Economic Development as the Management and Implementation Arm of the Miami-Dade County Empowerment Zone

Recommendation

It is recommended that the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) adopt the attached Ordinance, jointly sponsored jointly by the Economic Development and Human Services (EDHS) Committee and County Manager, which authorizes: 1) Miami-Dade County's Office of Community and Economic Development (OCED) to be designated as the management and implementation entity of the Miami-Dade County Empowerment Zone program with management and oversight through the County Executive Office and Board of County Commission (BCC); and 2) the Empowerment Zone Strategies Alliance (EZSA) to be created to review and make final decisions on funding recommendations that are forwarded through a review process managed by OCED with input from the Neighborhood Assembly process.

Fiscal Impact/Funding Source

There is no negative fiscal impact to the countywide or UMSA general fund. The remaining Federal Empowerment Zone (EZ) grant funding of $3,929,930, in addition to any program income (i.e. revolving loan fund repayments stemming directly from local matching or federal EZ grant assisted activities), will be used to support the ongoing programs and projects of the EZ program as administered by the County through OCED. OCED is authorized to charge an administrative fee to cover its associated costs.

Background

In 1994, Miami-Dade County, as the lead entity (with the support of the cities of Miami, Florida City and Homestead) submitted an application to the US Department of Housing and Urban Development (US HUD) for EZ Round I designation. However, the County was only awarded the designation of a Federal Enterprise Community, which came with a grant award of $3 million.

With the hope of succeeding in Round II, Miami-Dade County submitted an application to US HUD in October 1998 for an EZ designation. That application for Round II resulted in a successful submission anticipated to bring $100 million of EZ funds to Miami-Dade County over the next ten years to be leveraged with matching funds from the County, the partnering cities, Miami-Dade County Public Schools, the State of Florida, as well as investments within the EZ boundaries from the private lending community, private sector businesses, and community organizations. The investment of these resources was targeted at supporting a strategy for economic growth and investment in Miami-Dade's most distressed communities (see Attachment A).

The Round II application took the form of what is known as the EZ One Community One Goal Strategic Plan (Strategic Plan), which was the result of many hours of community participation. Those who participated include, but were not limited to, the banking community, chambers of commerce, civic groups and community based organizations, municipalities, Miami-Dade County Public Schools, and individual citizens. The Strategic Plan was organized around five key goals and strategies with implementing plans for each: 1) Jobs and Pathways; 2) Building in the Zone; 3) Growing New Businesses; 4) People and Places: Sustainable Community Development; and 5) Wired – Information Technology in the Zone (see Attachment B).

Empowerment Zone Today

Moving into its ninth year of operation, the total received by the Miami-Dade EZ program, since its inception, is approximately $25.6 million (with $3.9 million pending draw down). Local match to the program totals approximately $38 million (combination of County general funds and Documentary Surtax). Other funding sources such as State grants, and revenue from program income has also supported EZ program activities. For the last three years, there has been no additional federal EZ grant fund appropriation.

In 1999, the BCC approved a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the County and the Trust that delegated authority to the Trust to govern, direct and implement the Strategic Plan. On July 10, 2007, the County terminated the MOU with the Trust and began the transition of limited activities to OCED.

Going Forward

The recommended plan that resulted from the January 2008 EDHS Committee meeting proposes the following:

- No longer use a 501(c)(3), but place the management and implementation of the EZ program under the direction of the County Executive Office with OCED as the implementing agency. Because the County is the official grantee of the EZ grant funds, we must be in a position where responsibility for management and program accountability rest squarely with the County.
- Neighborhood Assemblies shall be re-established for each of the neighborhoods in the Empowerment Zone and should: 1) guide the implementation of the Empowerment Zone Strategic Plan and make recommendations to OCED, 2) advise and recommend to OCED, when appropriate, amendments and revisions to the Empowerment Zone Strategic Plan, and 3) name representatives to the EZSA.
- Create the EZSA with appointments from the EZ impacted Mayors and representative(s) from the Neighborhood Assemblies. The 14 EZCC members will be appointed as follows:
  - One member for the Airport neighborhood appointed by the Miami-Dade County Mayor;
  - One member for the Central Business District/Seaport neighborhood appointed by the City of Miami Mayor;
  - Eight members, one per each of the eight remaining neighborhoods, elected by their own neighborhood assemblies;
  - One representative appointed by the Miami-Dade County Mayor;
  - One representative appointed by the City of Miami Mayor;
  - One representative appointed by the City of Homestead Mayor; and
  - One representative appointed by the Florida City Mayor.
- OCED shall implement the Empowerment Zone Strategic Plan as designated and directed by EZSA. The EZSA shall review OCED staff funding recommendations and make the final determination on the funding of all projects and programs with EZ federal funds and program income. Prior to approval by EZSA, OCED is to receive input from the neighborhood assemblies.
- Implementation and award of funds as directed by EZSA shall not require review or approval by the Board, but all funding recommendations must be aligned with carrying out the EZ Strategic Plan.
- OCED's designation as the implementation arm of the EZ shall terminate upon the expiration of the County's designation as an Empowerment Zone.

- Report on a quarterly basis to the BCC on all funding decisions made by the Council and provide reports to the cities of Miami, Florida City, and Homestead.

Although the County administration has communicated with US HUD and requested feedback, their review and approval of this draft plan, which was submitted October 29, 2007, is pending. However, in the interest of time, this proposed ordinance is being advanced.

Five Strategies Outlined in the 1997-98 One Community One Goal Strategic Plan

1. Jobs and Pathways. (Three Goals).
  - a. Provide privileged training and placement of EZ persons in more than 5,000 jobs.
  - b. The County and its partners would take full advantage of the already existing job-training and infrastructure to provide EZ residents with an available network of job and training linkages.
  - c. Develop an Education Workforce Business Partnership to monitor and track the success of pathways to jobs.
2. Building in the Zone. (Three Goals).
  - a. Execute a new procurement process to assure that trained contractors and residents from the EZ will have privileged access to construction projects.
  - b. Hiring and training from within the EZ rather than importing labor for construction projects planned for the EZ and the region.
  - c. Commit to train and produce up to 2,500 students and apprentices over five years in all major construction trades needed in Miami-Dade. (This was stated as a commitment from the Miami AFL-CIO and the American Builders and Contractors Institute as opposed to the County's Trust).
3. New Business. (Three Goals)
  - a. Transform over $400 million in new capital commitment (from banks and other institutions) into a momentum-building investment base for the EZ businesses.
  - b. Establish an International Trade Board in the EZ to physically and financially link residents and businesses to trade and tourism.
  - c. Invest in education and training programs to prepare EZ students and business persons for careers in seven fields: international trade, biomedicine, film and entertainment, financial services, information technology, telecommunication and tourism.
4. People and Places; connecting people to opportunity. (Five goals)
  - a. Provide universal access to daycare, healthcare to families and children and early childhood education through investment strategies and community based delivery systems.
  - b. Comprehensive early childhood development and learning readiness for all children under 6 years old and drop-out prevention programs for at risk high school students.
  - c. Crime reduction through investment in community policing activities and investment in youth activities.
  - d. Redirect the westward suburban expansion by making the urban core and the EZ a magnetic place to live and work.
  - e. Create smart growth and improve transportation, remove development obstacles such as Brownfields, protect the environment and preserve open spaces and the ecosystem.
5. Wired Information Technology in the Zone. (Three Goals)
  - a. Unite the business, training entities and school into a Virtual One-Stop Employment System.
  - b. Incorporate technology into school and training curricula at all levels of instruction; from basic computer literacy to high tech training.
  - c. Make technology accessible in homes, businesses, neighborhood centers, schools and public libraries. Create repositories of information including, job skills bank, training resources, financial resources, government resources and land/GIS.
