PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

NYMIA Group
Brooklyn, NY/Miami, Florida

May 2000 to Present

Operates a multi-faceted community development consulting firm that provides training, strategic planning, organizational development and technical assistance services to public and private organizations. Services also include planning and implementing real estate development projects, conducting community assessments and providing technical assistance to business enterprises in urban neighborhoods. In addition, the firm provides strategic assistance to colleges and universities that are forming partnerships with their communities.

Currently implementing a master revitalization plan for a neighborhood in Miami Florida and supporting an NGO in Brazil doing community change projects in a Rio favella.

Senior Program Officer, Seedco
New York, NY

May 1996 to April 2000

Directed a Ford Foundation-funded national initiative in conjunction with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) that supported partnerships between institutions of higher education and public and private organizations to revitalize economically distressed communities. Guided the partnerships in planning and implementing community development projects leveraging HOME, CDBG and other federal funding sources. Planned conferences, seminars and workshops on various community and economic development topics for the university/community partnerships. Developed and implemented fund raising strategies for the initiative. Supervised staff and consultants working on the initiative. Prepared analytical materials and underwriting documentation on business and real estate development loan applications. Presented grant and loan recommendations to the Seedco Board of Directors. Forty HBCUs participated in the initiative.

Program Officer, LISC
Director, Washington Community Development Collaborative
Washington, D.C.

January 1993 to May 1996

Under the D.C. LISC office, managed the start-up of a multi-million dollar, 30-member consortium of private sector funders comprised of local and national banks, foundations, and corporations, which provided multi-year operating grants, technical assistance and training to nonprofit community development organizations. Major responsibilities included fundraising, strategic planning, financial management, grants management, professional staff supervision, public relations and direct technical assistance.

Coordinator, Community Investment Corporation (CIC)
Decatur, Illinois

May 1989 to December 1992

Initiated and managed a multi-faceted economic development organization for the city and county governments. Responsibilities included managing business revolving loan funds; preparing the county's Overall Economic Development Plan (OEDP); co-managing an incubator for over 40 small businesses and entrepreneurs; financing minority business start-ups; developing a statewide minority business network; providing technical assistance to non-profit community groups, administering federal and state economic development grants; planning and financing commercial development projects in distressed neighborhoods; providing self-employment training to new business owners in cooperation with a local community college, serving as interim president of a credit union to guide it through a merger that increased its assets from $3 million to over $10 million; and establishing a county-wide economic development advocacy organization. The CIC is part of the Decatur Chamber of Commerce and attracted millions of dollars in grants from public and private sources and created several hundred jobs for local residents. Also founded and directed the Neighborhood Housing Development Corporation (NHDC), NHDC has become a leading non-profit affordable housing developer in the state of Illinois.

Manager, Community Relations Division
Decatur, Illinois

October 1986 to May 1989

Hired as a community relations specialist in 1986, promoted to manager in 1987. Responsible for enforcing local human rights ordinances through the Human Relations Commission; provided technical grant-writing assistance to community-based organizations seeking city funding; provided technical management assistance to non-profit organizations; managed the city's Employee Assistance Program (EAP); coordinated training programs for city staff under the Human Resources Department; monitored contract compliance on major city construction projects; served as president of the Illinois Municipal Human Relations Association.

Consultant, Human Resources Development Institute
Chicago, Illinois

October 1985 to September 1986

Conducted a community needs assessment and developed a neighborhood plan for a distressed community in central Illinois. In cooperation with a local planning committee, recruited community leaders and identified funding sources to launch a new community-based organization to implement the plan's goals and objectives. Served as interim president of the new organization during its start-up phase.

Project Administrator, VISTA
Decatur, Illinois

August 1980 to October 1985

Managed local VISTA project, which offered community-based literacy activities, drug education and prevention programs, consumer credit counseling services, domestic violence prevention and advocacy services, and youth recreational programs. Supervised a staff of 15 VISTAs and community residents based at several sites throughout the city. Assisted in establishing a community-based healthcare center in one of the target neighborhoods and became its first treasurer.

Volunteer, Volunteers In Service To America (VISTA)
Decatur, Illinois

November 1979 to August 1980

Redesigned and implemented community-based programs in disadvantaged neighborhoods. Shifted youth program emphasis from recreational to neighborhood-based literacy activities. Increased program income from $2,000 to $200,000 within two years. Promoted to VISTA project administrator.

Examples of Recent Work under the NYMIA Group

Annie E. Casey Making Connections Initiative

Over the last four years the NYMIA Group, has delivered a wide range of technical and training services in New Orleans, Louisiana and Providence, Rhode Island under the Making Connections Initiative. Making Connections is a ten-year investment by the Annie E. Casey Foundation to improve the outcomes for families and children in tough or isolated neighborhoods. In addition to providing direct technical assistance to the initiative, Mr. Butler has served as technical assistance liaison to broker technical assistance, identify consultants and groups to provided needed services, and coordinate learning opportunities. Mr. Butler is also part of a team of Technical Assistance Liaisons working together on issues around community building. For example, he and his colleagues have focused on connecting residents to a range of serves provided by public, private and faith based community partners. Mr. Butler was also part of a team in Providence that recently won a Compassionate Community Fund Grant.

79th Street Corridor Initiative Committee-Miami, Florida

The NYMIA group was recently engaged by the Corridor Committee to develop a strategic community redevelopment plan for the Liberty City community that uses sustainable development and transit oriented development (TOD) approaches. The goal is to transform a predominately low-income, fragmented commercial, residential and industrial area into a cohesive and vibrant community. The redevelopment effort will use a relatively new Amtrak and regional commuter train transit hub as the catalyst for the redevelopment effort.

Specifically, the NYMIA Group is working with Miami-Dade county in creating a community reinvestment district (CRA) for the area; establishing stronger partnership with Miami Dade county government to generate commercial and housing development in the area; organizing a small business association that would lead the redevelopment of the commercial district; working with developers on transit oriented development projects; and organizing and engaging community residents around the overall revitalization process.

Reynoldstown Revitalization CDC (RRC)

The NYMIA Group recently completed an expansion plan for a major CDC in Atlanta that included an analysis of the regional housing and economic development market, an assessment of the organization's internal systems and operations, and an assessment of potential public and private partnerships that would strengthen the expansion effort. Our recommendations for their expansion was based on research and analysis of organizational financial and programmatic information, and regional community development activity and macro economic trends.

Greater Newark Business Development Consortium (GNBDC)

The NYMIA Group Completed a comprehensive organizational assessment and business plan for GNBDC which works with small and minority owned businesses in the Newark, New Jersey region. The study included an assessment of the political and economic environment in Newark, an historical overview of the consortium, summaries of interview with staff, board members and stakeholders, a scan of micro enterprise funding agencies locally and nationally, and recommendations as guidance for GNBDC's new strategic direction.

Rutgers University/NJPPRI

The NYMIA Group was engaged by Rutgers University's New Jersey Public Policy Research Institute to provide guidance to the Ford Foundation on possible investments in New Orleans. The NYMIA Group submitted a report on the challenges and opportunities in post-Katrina New Orleans.

HUD's Multifamily Neighborhood Networks Initiative

Since 2001, the NYMIA Group has partnered with Aspen Systems Corporation and DB Consulting Group to provide technical assistance and training to selected community technology centers on HUD assisted- and insured-properties across the country. Through this contract, the NYMIA Group has assisted the community technology centers with fundraising, preparing for and securing nonprofit status, micro-enterprise development, resident services and program development and evaluation.

HUD's HBCU Community Development Initiative

Since 2003, the NYMIA has led a wide range of workshops on community/neighborhood development for HBCUs that have CDC partners. The training and technical assistance workshop topics in strategic planning, partnership development, resource development, deal making, comprehensive community development approaches, and fund raising and grants management.

The National Urban League

The NYMIA Group consultants were engaged to provide housing/community development technical assistance to a number of local affiliates of the National Urban League. The services involved creating CHDOs, identifying and negotiating contracts for acquisition of sites, assembling and managing the development teams, developing and managing the project budget, identifying and facilitating the receipt of project financing from public and private equity sources, monitoring the project's risk mitigation process and managing the project closeout process.

Mr. Richard E. Miller
18735 Northeast 18th Avenue, Miami, FL. 33179

Mr. Richard E. Miller is the retired Chief Executive Officer for The Sphinx Group, Inc., (TSG), management and housing consultants.

Administration

TSG performed management analysis and development in all areas of the organization, including hiring, promotions, terminations, staff training, performance evaluation, and productivity and efficiency analyses. Organizational development assistance included organizational structure and staffing standards assessment, agency mission statement establishment; strategic plan, organizational goals and objectives, and position descriptions development, establishing employee performance standards and ensuring staff accountability.

Public/private partnership development services were performed by TSG in housing developer liaisons through alliances with government agencies, cooperative ventures and fund leveraging assistance.

Affordable housing planning development performed by TSG included land acquisition assistance, multifamily rental housing development, single-family home ownership development and asset management information.

Management/Supervision/Communication

Mr Miller has had to develop, implement, and review administrative, operational and internal control procedures for a 600 staff member agency with a $200 million operating budget. He also managed the planning, funding and implementation of a multifaceted program for multicultural jurisdiction of 1.8 million population. He developed policies for requests for proposals, housing financial strategies, feasibility determination, supervision and implementation of various real estate development programs funded jointly and separately by federal, state and local sources.

Mr. Miller has excellent communications and computer skills with proficiency in a number of business, management and accountability software programs.

Coordination

Mr. Miller is experienced in developing programs that require close collaboration with private sector organizations, lending institutions, financial intermediaries, and liaisons with federal and state managers. Housing development guided by Mr. Miller included new construction and rehabilitation of homeownership units as well as the new construction and rehabilitation of multifamily rental units for low-income families. Housing development of such a magnitude required Mr. Miller's management and supervision of environmental review criteria setting and monitoring, asset management analysis and coordination, procurement and contracting management.

Dr. Walter T. Richardson is a leading voice in South Florida for social justice. His ability to equate the black religious experience with the social concerns of the black community has been recognized as a needed methodology for change. Because of his vital ministry the Sweet Home Baptist Church, where he pastors, has grown from a part-time two-Sunday a month congregation of less than 200 member to a full-time staffed ministry with two morning services each Sunday and a membership of over two thousand persons. The Sweet Home church is involved in holistic healing for the family in that it offers ministries involving singles, married couples, youth, the elderly and peer counseling at all levels. Ministries are also in operation dealing with chemical dependency and literacy. Sweet Home is also a racially integrated congregation with native-American blacks, Spanish, Haitians, Whites and representation from several Caribbean Islands.

Dr. Richardson is also acclaimed as a leading adjunct professor at the St. Thomas University where he teaches religion. Walter T. Richardson is also nationally known for his musical talent, having recorded with several choirs and artists, including the Florida Mass Choir as vocalist and musician. Having worked for more than twenty years in executive management with Sears, Roebuck and Company, Dr. Richardson resigned that job to devote his full time to the holistic ministry of the South Dade community.
