WHEREAS, although death due to obesity is preventable, more than 40,000 Florida residents die annually from obesity-related diseases; and

WHEREAS, in 2011, Florida ranked as the 29th-most-obese state in the country; and

WHEREAS, in 2008, more than 60 percent of adults and 30 percent of children in Florida were overweight and at least half of these people were obese, with a body mass index greater than 30; and

WHEREAS, the number of overweight and obese children has tripled in the last 20 years; and

WHEREAS, approximately 60 percent of overweight children have at least one risk factor for cardiovascular disease and 25 percent of overweight children have two or more risk factors; and

WHEREAS, excessive body weight affects virtually every organ system in the body and increases the risks of diabetes, heart attack, stroke, cancer, sleep apnea and osteoarthritis; and

WHEREAS, obesity-related medical expenditures for adults in Florida total more than $5 billion annually, with over half of these costs being financed by Medicare and Medicaid; and

WHEREAS, the economic effects of obesity far surpass this $5 billion expenditure when missed workdays, other costs outside the medical care system and the economic value of reduced longevity and quality of life are considered; and

WHEREAS, 25.8 million children and adults in the United States—8.3 percent of the population—have diabetes; and

WHEREAS, in 2011, Florida ranked as the 10th highest state in the United States for diabetes incidence rates; and

WHEREAS, in 2010, 1,478,000 Floridians were diagnosed by a doctor to have diabetes; and

WHEREAS, nationally, diabetes costs $174 billion annually in direct medical costs; and

WHEREAS, nationally, diabetes costs $40 billion annually in indirect costs, such as loss of work, disability, and loss of life; and

WHEREAS, in 2004, heart disease was noted on 68 percent of diabetes-related death certificates among people aged 65 years or older; and

WHEREAS, adults with diabetes have heart disease death rates approximately 2 to 4 times higher than adults without diabetes; and

WHEREAS, the risk for stroke is 2 to 4 times higher among people with diabetes; and

WHEREAS, diabetes is the leading cause of kidney failure, accounting for 44 percent of new cases in 2008; and

WHEREAS, poor nutrition and lack of exercise can lead to a plethora of physical and mental health problems; and

WHEREAS, the National Institute of Health linked long-term poor nutrition with a number of physical issues, such as, obesity, high cholesterol, diabetes, heart disease, cancer, gallstones, gout and many other health problems; and

WHEREAS, according to the American Heart Association, lack of exercise drastically increases the risk of heart problems -- specifically coronary artery disease, in which arteries become clogged with cholesterol and other fatty materials and prevent sufficient blood supply to the heart; and

WHEREAS, lack of exercise also increases the risk of additional risk factors for coronary artery disease, including high blood pressure and cholesterol levels, being obese, and developing diabetes; and

WHEREAS, Arizona State University researchers report a direct correlation between exercise and mental health; and that exercise reduces symptoms of depression and anxiety; and
