RESOLUTION NO. R-751-07

RESOLUTION CODESIGNATING NW 50TH STREET FROM NW 27TH AVENUE TO NW 32ND
AVENUE AS BISHOP JOSEPH DAVID "J.D."
WILLIAMS STREET

WHEREAS, this Board has conducted a public hearing to consider codesignating NW 50th Street from NW 27th Avenue to NW 32nd Avenue as Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams Street; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams was born in 1884 in Cat Island, Bahamas; he came to Miami at an early age; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams started working at the age of 10 as a water boy for a Flagler Railroad construction crew; industrious and intelligent, he obtained an education at a time when it was not the norm of young black men; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams, as a young man, became a minister and quoted the Bible in all aspects of his life; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams founded Miami's First Church of God of Prophecy in Overtown in the early 1920s; he was the pastor at the Liberty City Church of God of Prophecy; he led the congregation to move from 62nd Street to 22nd Avenue and 60th Street. The church is currently building a new edifice at the cost of over a million dollars; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams, during his long career in the ministry, was Field Secretary for the Church of God of Prophecy, and was instrumental in building and serving churches in Hallandale, Hollywood, Liberty City and Key West; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams was an entrepreneur. As a pioneer businessman he was responsible for (under the direction of Wesley Garrison Realtors) the development of "Homeowners Paradise" and "Hialeah Gardens"; he purchased family plots and sold land from NW 22nd to 32nd Avenue and from NW 46th to 52nd Street to build homes that could be owned primarily by blacks. This was then the heart of "Brown-Sub" now known as Brownsville. On NW 27th Avenue and the 50th Street area, the first businesses were established. In later years, this two-lane dirt-road became a bustling center for black businesses in Brownsville. In 1954, he also established businesses on NW 49th Street and 27th Avenue, naming the building J.D. Williams and Sons which is still in operation. He valued business and was a visionary as an entrepreneur and believes that folks of diverse background could unite, build and develop a self-sustaining community; and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams was an active participant in voter registration long before it became a focus of the Civil Rights Era. He encouraged black people to get involved, vote and to support the process that supported self-actualization and sustainability. Believing that you can cripple people with constant handouts, he advocated that people become empowered through gaining useful skills, wisdom, education and commerce. He often quoted, "give a man a fish and he'll eat for a day. Teach a man to fish and he'll eat for a lifetime;" and

WHEREAS, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams passed away October 3, 1966, but the cornerstone of his life and his legacy still lives on in the Brownsville Community; and

WHEREAS, because of his spiritual leadership, his involvement and undying commitment to others and his vision for his community, Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams was beloved by all who knew him for his generosity and concern for others; and

WHEREAS, this Board would like to honor the memory of Bishop Joseph David "J.D." Williams with this codesignation; and
