Event Description

Picture an event for kids and families that celebrates the cultures of the world in one park – an event where music, dance, art, food, water, flowers, marching bands ... even hula hoops! ... are part of the cultural experience. It's called Inheritants, and it'll happen on March 17, 2012 at Horace Mann Athletic Field (just next to the Miami Little River in El Portal) between 11 AM and 7 PM. It's a FREE global, eco-friendly event where children and adults will share their oral histories, enjoy a canoe ride down a river, plant sunflower seeds, learn more about our environment, and enjoy presentations by Afro-Cuban, Japanese, Chinese, Native American, Afro-American, White American, and Celtic artists. Inheritants will also feature the debut The Miami Collective Marching Band, a new band made up of talented kids from Horace Mann Middle School and the Barnyard Afterschool program for at-risk youth.

Purpose of the event

The purpose of this event is to build community, create environmental awareness, and present the arts as a tool for education. We also seek to bring globally conscious outreach programs to underserved areas throughout our community.

Local and Regional impact

Since it is our children that will continue our incredible legacies, we at CAC have decided to showcase our youth at this year's event for their commitments and contributions to their lives, families and community, encouraging them to continue on living their traditions! This year our performances are extra special because the community will be able to experience the reality of oral history in progress as these youths present what they are receiving in the way of knowledge, discipline, culture and traditions from their parents and or mentors. We have chosen El Portal Village for the history and heritage of the Tequesta Mound and the Miami Little River that runs adjacent to Horace Mann. This event will give attendees a better understanding of the cultures and social backgrounds that make up our global fabric. It will also teach ways on how we can do to better job at improving our environment and quality of life.
