RESOLUTION NO. R-380-13

RESOLUTION URGING THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS
TO ENACT H.R. 1318, THE YOUTH PROMISE ACT, OR SIMILAR LEGISLATION

WHEREAS, youth gang crime has taken a toll on a number of urban communities, and senseless acts of gang-related violence have imposed economic, social, and human costs; and

WHEREAS, minority children, particularly Black and Hispanic children, are over-represented relative to the general population at every stage of the juvenile justice system; and

WHEREAS, the United States now has the highest average incarceration rate of any nation in the world by far; and

WHEREAS, corrections costs in the United States have risen from around $7 billion a year in 1980 to over $68 billion a year currently; and

WHEREAS, these criminal justice costs have become burdensome in many states and cities, requiring reductions in vital educational, social, welfare, mental health, and related services; and

WHEREAS, federal research has shown that gang-membership is short-lived among adolescents, thus presenting ongoing opportunities for intervention and prevention; and

WHEREAS, overwhelming research has shown that a continuum of comprehensive, evidenced-based prevention and intervention programs for youth at risk of, or involved in, delinquent behavior will greatly reduce crime and save much more than they cost when the avoided law enforcement and social welfare expenditures are considered; and

WHEREAS, a bill entitled the Youth Promise Act, H.R. 1318, has been introduced for consideration during the 113th Congress by Representative Robert C. “Bobby” Scott (D-Virginia); and

WHEREAS, the Youth Promise Act would:

(1) enable communities facing the greatest youth gang and crime challenges to develop a locally-designed comprehensive response to youth violence through a coordinated evidence-based prevention and intervention program;

(2) reduce crime by reducing recidivism among juvenile offenders and helping to stop the cycle of violence prevalent in urban communities;

(3) ultimately save much more money than it costs, up to $5.00 for every $1.00 spent;
and

WHEREAS, currently there are 57 House co-sponsors of this important legislation; and

WHEREAS, many cities and counties across the country have passed resolutions in support of the Youth Promise Act; and

WHEREAS, the United States Conference of Mayors and the National Association of Counties have adopted resolutions urging passage of the Youth Promise Act; and

WHEREAS, this Board would like to express its support for H.R. 1318,
