Subject: Resolution in Support of PortMiami Hosting the American Association of Port Authorities Annual Convention in October 2015; Approving and Authorizing the Execution of a Standard Meetings Contract with InterContinental Miami in an Amount Not to Exceed $400,992; and Recognizing the Host Port Responsibilities

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that the Board of County Commissioners ("Board") approve the accompanying resolution in support of PortMiami hosting the American Association of Port Authorities Annual Convention (AAPA Convention) in October 2015; approving and authorizing the Execution of a Standard Meetings Contract with InterContinental Miami in an amount not to exceed $400,992; and recognizing the Host Port responsibilities.

SCOPE

PortMiami ("Port") is located within District 5 – Commissioner Bruno A. Barreiro. The impact of this agenda item is countywide. The conference venue will be in downtown Miami where the majority of conference attendees will lodge and attend events.

FISCAL IMPACT/FUNDING SOURCE

The potential financial impact of the Standard Meetings Contract ("Meetings Contract") with the InterContinental Miami is up to $400,992 if, as discussed in the paragraph below, there are not enough registrants paying for the hotel room block and the minimum guarantees are not met.

The Meetings Contract consists of a room block with revenues totaling $313,740, which shall be payable by the individual conference delegates (1,260 room nights at $249 per night). However, the Port shall have a financial responsibility towards the room block guarantee if 80% of these room nights ($250,992) is not achieved. Additionally, there is a food and beverage minimum of $150,000. Thus, the Port's total financial responsibility to the Meeting Contract is up to $400,992, which is 80% of room revenues plus the food and beverage minimum ($$250,992 + $150,000 = $400,992$)

It is anticipated that these hotel expenses, along with other host port conference responsibilities, shall be offset by a percentage of conference delegate registration fees and other convention-generated revenues such as exhibition rentals, advertisements and sponsorship dollars. The Port will receive approximately $1,300 per paid conference registration and $75 per exhibitor registration (maximum two per company), as further detailed in the Background section of this memo. The Port will also receive 100% of all revenues raised from sponsorships and program advertisements to allocate towards conference expenses.

TRACK RECORD/MONITOR

Seaport Department staff members responsible for monitoring the management of the AAPA Conference and related Meetings Contract are Kevin Lynskey, Deputy Port Director, and Hydi Webb, Manager of Business Development.

BACKGROUND

Founded in 1912, the American Association of Port Authorities ("AAPA") is a trade association representing more than 160 leading port authorities in the United States, Canada, the Caribbean and Latin America. Members also include more than 300 firms and individuals with interest in the seaports of the Western Hemisphere. AAPA is dedicated to serving deep draft public ports by promoting the common interests of port communities and providing leadership on trade, transportation, environmental and other issues related to port development and operations. AAPA also works to educate the public, media, local, state and federal legislators about the essential role ports play within the global transportation system. PortMiami participates regularly at AAPA activities including committee meetings, technical workshops, and seminars/conferences.

AAPA's largest membership gathering is its annual convention which rotates to different port communities. This event includes technical and policy committee meetings, business sessions, exhibition/trade show, and social/networking opportunities. Annual conventions are hosted by member ports offering a range of activities reflecting the unique features of the host community. PortMiami has been selected as the host port for the 2015 AAPA Annual Convention scheduled for October 12 - 15, 2015 in Miami, FL.

As host port, PortMiami shall be responsible for the general management and overall financial support of the convention which includes (1) selecting a conference venue and executing a conference hotel contract and (2) coordinating and funding certain convention responsibilities including social activities, entertainment, registration, translation services, convention website services, marketing material, and ground transportation for convention events.

Standard Meetings Contract with the InterContinental Miami:

The Port issued a competitive bid process, via the Greater Miami Convention & Visitors Bureau, for a conference headquarter hotel seeking a facility for necessary meeting space, exhibition hall and room accommodations. Proposals were received from four local hotels: Hyatt Regency Miami, InterContinental Miami, Loews Miami Beach, and Hilton Miami. It was determined the InterContinental Miami was the best fit for this conference based on hotel space, concessions, available dates, site visits and price.

The attached Standard Meetings Contract ("Meetings Contract") between InterContinental Miami and PortMiami has been negotiated between the Parties and is recommended for Board approval ("Exhibit A"). The total contract value is $463,740 with the Port potentially responsible for up to $400,992 broken down as follows:

- Room revenue: $250,992, which is 80% of room block revenue
- Food and beverage Minimum: $150,000
- Room revenue ($250,992) plus food and beverage ($150,000) = $400,992

The total room block reserved in the Meetings Contract is 1,260 bed nights at $249 per night, totaling $313,740. However, the Port's guarantee is 80% of the total room block, which is 1,008 hotel nights or $250,992. Room revenues shall be fully paid by the individual delegates as long as the minimums are met as outlined in the Fiscal Impact Section above. Should this occur, the $250,992 (80% of the total room nights) will not be payable by the County and would be deducted from the County's total financial obligation. However, should the room nights actually booked by conference delegates be less than 80% of the total room nights committed per day, the Port shall pay the difference between 80% of the total room nights and the actual usage of rooms, multiplied by the average group room rate.

The actual number of hotel nights used during the past five AAPA conventions averaged 1,585 room nights as follows: 2013: 1,728 room nights in Orlando, FL; 2012: 1,384 room nights in Mobile, AL; 2011: 1,689 room nights in Seattle, WA; 2010: 1,472 room nights in Halifax, CA; 2009: 1,650 room nights in Galveston, TX. These past conventions consisted of a 4-day conference agenda and the Miami event is expected to be a 3-day conference program. Thus, the lower commitment of 80% guarantee or 1,008 bed nights.

The Port will receive particular hotel concessions based on the achievement of 80% room block and meeting food and beverage minimums. These concessions include: one complimentary room for every 45 paid rooms, one royal suite complimentary to be used by AAPA Chairman, one upgrade to a one-bedroom suite at the group rate, twelve complimentary upgrades to deluxe suites at regular conference rate, group rate will be offered three days pre and post-convention dates, a five percent discount to printed 2015 catering menus, discounted parking for up to ten staff cars, and complimentary Wi-Fi in all guest rooms, exhibit hall and meeting spaces. These hotel concessions may be used by the Port to increase revenues associated with sponsorship packages.

The Port will be budgeting, subject to Board approval as part of the annual budget process, promotional funds for Fiscal Years 2015 and 2016 from its non-operating budget. These promotional funds will be used in the event conference-generated revenues are not sufficient to meet the Port's financial obligations in support of the conference.

The Contract contains a cancellation fee should the Port cancel the event after August 1, 2014. Should the Port cancel and notify the Hotel between August 2, 2014 and October 31, 2014, a cancellation fee in the amount of $30,000 shall apply; should the Port cancel between November 1, 2014 and April 13, 2015, the cancellation fee shall be $139,122; should the Port cancel between April 14, 2015 and February 17, 2015, the cancellation fee shall be $231,870; and should the Port cancel between February 18, 2015 and the conference start date, the cancellation fee shall be the full contract value of $463,740 less mitigation by the Hotel through the sale of room nights. Should the Port cancel and to the extent the hotel is able to rent rooms which had been reserved for the conference, the hotel will deduct those rooms from the calculation of the cancellation fee (after filling rooms which had not been reserved previously by the Port). However, cancellation due to "Force Majeure" (such as a hurricane, acts of God, World Health Organization travel advisory, civil disorder, etc.) would not incur any cancellation charges. Should the event be cancelled, AAPA is not responsible to share in the cancellation fees. However, it is worth noting that AAPA has held this Annual Conference, hosted by its member ports, since 1912, without cancellation. Over this time period, PortMiami hosted the event in 1941, 1972 and 1986.

AAPA Convention Guidelines:

In addition to the hotel venue, PortMiami shall be responsible for the management and financial responsibility of the Annual Conference including, but not limited to, marketing material, website development, registration, social activities/entertainment, translation services and photography. AAPA will be directly responsible for planning the business sessions including general sessions, luncheon programs, committee meetings, and exhibit sales and management. Such responsibilities are outlined in the attached AAPA Convention Guidelines packet ("Exhibit B") and provide suggestions for promoting registration and raising revenues. These Guidelines do not constitute a management plan.

These host port responsibilities, along with the Meetings Contract commitments, are expected to be offset by a percentage of conference delegate registration fees and other convention-generated revenues such as exhibition rentals, advertisements and sponsorships. The Port will be responsible for establishing conference registration fees, which require approval from AAPA's Board of Directors during their fall meeting prior to the annual conference. While the majority of registration fees will be utilized by the Port to offset conference expenses, AAPA shall receive a small amount from each paid registration. In past years, delegate registration fees averaged $1,450. AAPA's share of conference fees averaged $110 for each paid AAPA member registration and $135 for each AAPA non-member registration. Based on this formula, the Port would receive approximately $1,300 for each registered delegate. Approximately 400 delegates are expected to attend the Miami conference, which would equate to approximately $520,000 to the Port from registration fees alone to offset conference expenses.

Additionally, the Port shall receive $75 per person from exhibit sales to offset conference expenses (maximum 2 people per company) and an additional 15% commission for any new exhibit sales generated by the Port. Such exhibition revenues to the Port are expected to be potentially in the range of $10,000 - $12,000. Also, full revenues raised by the Port for sponsorships and advertisements will be utilized by the Port to offset convention costs.

It is likely the Port will incur other additional expenses as it relates to Host Port commitments. Should this occur, the Port will take any necessary future contract(s) to the Board for approval.

It is expected that the AAPA Annual Conference 2015 will welcome approximately 400 delegates, generating approximately 1,260 bed nights, in Miami-Dade County. Many of these individuals will spend extra time in Miami before and/or after the Convention supporting our local restaurants, shopping venues, tourist attractions, etc.

DELEGATED AUTHORITY

In accordance with Section 2-8.3 of the Miami-Dade County Code related to identifying delegation of Board authority, there are no authorities beyond those specific in the resolution which include the authority for the Mayor or designee to execute the Meetings Contract and to exercise any cancellation and option provisions therein.

Convention Planning Policies and Guidelines

Introduction

The Association's Annual Convention has, since 1912, been the highlight of Association membership activities. The AAPA Convention can be described as a yearly reunion of the Western Hemisphere's widely scattered family of port professionals. It is an important forum for discussion of issues confronting port managers and for developing policy positions to guide Association efforts during the coming year. It is also a time for fellowship, for port managers to renew friendships with their peers and to exchange information in a pleasant, business-like atmosphere.

Traditionally, AAPA conventions have been hosted by a member port city offering a range of activities reflecting the spirit and unique features of the host community. As such, each convention is different, yielding anticipation among the membership of new sights and sounds from one convention to the next.

These planning guidelines consolidate all previously published policies and procedures. These guidelines do not, however, set forth a convention management plan. The Host Port is encouraged to organize its efforts, as it deems appropriate. The guidelines set forth the convention management requirements of the Association and provide suggested guidelines for promoting registration and raising revenues.

AAPA Annual Convention

Planning Policies and Guidelines

I. Planning and Organization

A. The annual convention program includes (1) business sessions and exhibits arranged by AAPA, and (2) entertainment, social activities and an adjunct guest program, arranged and provided for by the Host Port.

1. The President is responsible for the business program including general discussion sessions, luncheon programs, Board of Directors and Executive Committee meetings, the Annual Membership Meeting, competitions, and committee meetings.

The President will seek the input of the Host Port executive director during planning of the business program to determine if there are any local or regional issues or discussion topics that may be appropriate.

2. The Host Port is responsible for the general management and overall financial support of the convention and specifically for the convention's food and beverage, social and entertainment activities, all registration procedures, local transportation requirements, audio-visual equipment, and simultaneous translation for AAPA's Spanish-speaking members attending business sessions. No social or entertainment activities (with the exception of the guest programs) shall be offered at times which will conflict with any aspect of the business program or committee meetings. See also section XIII.F.2.

Subject to the policies, procedures and guidelines indicated in this summary, the Host Port shall develop its own convention management plan. The AAPA staff will provide counsel and assistance as requested. The AAPA staff is available to review with the Host Port management plans and procedures of past conventions and develop projections of attendance.

3. The Executive Committee will approve the general convention schedule. The AAPA staff and the Host Port staff will coordinate the final specific schedule of business and social functions. This will be accomplished not later than three months prior to the opening of the convention. The President is responsible for presenting the recommended schedule to the Executive Committee for its approval.

B. The Board of Directors, at its April 1982 meeting, enacted the following policy pertaining to convention planning.

"Resolved that it is the policy of the American Association of Port Authorities that any and all agreements and arrangements relating to the annual meeting of the Association, including but not limited to, publicity, publications, registration, registration fees and related matters shall be subject to the prior written approval of the President acting within the policies established by the Executive Committee."

The purpose of this policy is to assure consistency in the scope and dimensions of the AAPA convention's social and entertainment programs from one convention to the next. The President and Host Port director are responsible for developing procedures relating to this policy.

- C. The AAPA Executive Committee, at its January 10, 2001 meeting, voted unanimously to set a policy that AAPA not indemnify convention host ports against charges that might accrue if a convention were to be cancelled.
- D. Selection of the convention headquarters hotel shall be made jointly by the Host Port director and the President. See Attachment A for projected meeting room needs.
 - 1. As soon as practicable following the selection of a convention Host Port, the Host Port director and the President will meet to determine the requirements for a convention headquarters hotel. Number of sleeping rooms, meeting space capabilities and exhibit space will be fundamental considerations. See Attachment B for sleeping room and exhibition space needs.
 - 2. The Host Port director will propose one or more hotels to the President.
 - 3. The President will visit the proposed hotels prior to final selection.
 - 4. The President shall notify the membership of the hotel selection as soon as practicable.
 - 5. Attachment B provides information regarding customary inclusions in convention contracts. AAPA will be available to lend any level of assistance requested during the negotiation process. Final contractual arrangements pertaining to the headquarters hotel and any backup hotels will be between the Host Port and the hotel.
 - 6. Convention dates should be chosen so as not to conflict with national or religious holidays.

II. Finances-AAPA Surcharges

- A. The convention is not to be considered as a profit-making enterprise for the Host Port. Historically, there generally have not been net revenues and the host port should plan for the potential of a deficit.
- B. The Host Port receives all basic registration fees and all other convention-generated revenues such as those realized from official program advertisement space sales.
- C. The Host Port is encouraged to seek contributions and sponsorships from local and regional interests to help underwrite its general convention costs and to keep registration fees as low as possible. The Host Port director should consult with the President on any questions of propriety or precedent.

- D. In March 1979, the Board of Directors decided that the annual convention should produce revenues for the Association's annual operating budget. A surcharge to be applied to each paid registrant was adopted. In April 1981, the Board voted to establish a premium surcharge for the paid registrations of non-AAPA members.
1. Surcharges are collected by the Host Port as part of the registration procedures and are payable to AAPA within 60 days after the close of the convention. If requested, the President will submit an invoice to the Host Port based on final official registration lists.
 2. The Board will set surcharges for the next year's convention at its Fall Meeting. If no action is taken, the surcharge will remain the same as the previous year. (2006 surcharges were $110 for each paid registration by an AAPA member and $135 for each paid registration by a non-member.)
- D. The Host Port is responsible for all convention costs, including AAPA staff lodging. AAPA is responsible for the following:
- Any and all charges associated with the exhibit program. (Complimentary exhibit space should be part of the hotel contract)
 - Travel expenses for the AAPA working staff

III. Convention Exhibit Program

The exhibit program is a discreet convention function coordinated by AAPA through an exhibit manager. The exhibit management arrangement is designed to be complementary to the efforts of the Host Port and AAPA. The arrangement provides the Host Port with opportunities to utilize the exhibit to help attract convention sponsors and some level of revenue. AAPA will work with the Host Port to develop activities to drive delegate traffic into the exhibit hall.

Specifically, The Host Port receives three exhibit booths on a complimentary basis and ten booths at 50% of the published exhibit price to be used at the discretion of the Host Port. Often, the Port will utilize these booths as part of sponsorship packages. In addition, the Host Port receives a 15% commission for any new exhibit sales generated by the Host Port.

The Host Port also receives $75 per person (to a maximum of two per company) to offset the costs of activities (continental breakfasts, pre-lunch receptions, etc.) occurring in the exhibit area. The Host Port may, at its discretion, offer exhibitors the opportunity to purchase either individually, or in a special exhibitor registration package, the remaining convention social and meal functions.

IV. Registration Fees, Complimentary Registrations, Special Registrations

- A. It is tradition that at AAPA conventions, a single registration fee covers the registrant with or without a guest. Room rates should also be the same for single or double occupancy.
- B. The Host Port can establish daily session and individual event fee schedules for local persons and press. This should be carefully formulated and with awareness that fully paid registrations are encouraged and that any other form of participation should be at a premium rate. See Attachment C for Press Policies.
- C. The level of base registration fees is subject to Board of Director's approval. The President will advise the Host Port of procedures to accomplish this.
- D. The Host Port will provide complimentary registrations to the AAPA working staff, AAPA exhibit manager and guest speakers as necessary. In inviting speakers, AAPA will offer free registrations only if necessary. Generally, only one or two speakers receive complimentary registrations for full convention. However, a number of speakers (approx. 15) attend for only 1-2 days and are not charged for lunches, social events, etc. AAPA members participating in the business program are expected to arrange for paid registrations.

The host port will be asked to provide a limited number of complimentary registrations to individuals representing affiliated organizations (such as IAPH, ACPA and OAS that have, through an MOU, agreed to provide reciprocal treatment to AAPA), federal agency officials and other special guests. The number of complimentary registrations is normally very small (less than ten).

- E. Honorary AAPA members shall be provided with complimentary registrations. (Honorary members consist primarily of retired AAPA Presidents and Chairmen. There are 29 Honorary members, but in recent years, the number of Honorary members attending has been less than five.)
- F. AAPA requires a minimum of one complimentary registration, given to AAPA, to be used for purposes of its program of Corporate Sponsorship.
- G. Working media representatives shall be provided with complimentary registration to attend all business sessions and luncheons. The Host Port can opt to provide working media representative's free registration to all social events, or establish a per-event fee for social and entertainment functions. See Attachment C for Press Policies.
- H. Exhibitors – see Section III regarding registration options for exhibitors.

V. Promotional Mailings, Registration Material

- A. Through direct mailings, the Host Port is responsible for promoting the convention in the most effective manner to potential attendees and for providing adequate opportunities for registration.
1. AAPA will provide mailing lists seven months prior to the opening date of the convention, including registration lists from previous conventions.

The following guidelines have been successful in recent conventions:

- A general announcement including basic information about dates, hotel selection and possible program topics to be mailed six months prior to convention opening.
 - Additional promotional material, official registration forms, hotel registration instructions, and business program previews (updated as appropriate) to be mailed or e-mailed:
 - Five months prior to the opening date
 - Two months prior to opening dates
 - Optionally, one month prior to opening date
2. During the Spring Conference prior to the convention, the host port traditionally hosts an evening reception to promote the convention program.
 3. In many cases, the Host Port for the next year hosts an evening reception during the prior year's convention. This is done at the discretion of both Host Ports.
 4. The AAPA staff will provide full counsel to review convention materials and assist the Host Port's efforts to promote attendance.

VI. Coordination With Headquarters Hotel

- A. Host Port and AAPA will work out a space utilization plan not later than four months prior to convention opening. No meeting space shall be released or committed to any party without the approval of AAPA. To avoid confusion and duplication, AAPA's contact with the Headquarters Hotel shall be limited to:
- Arrangements for use of designated meeting space for committee meetings; and
 - Assignment of complimentary sleeping room space made available by the hotel. (This space will be used to accommodate the AAPA Chairman, AAPA working staff and speakers as necessary.)

Since AAPA staff members are primarily responsible for running business program sessions each year, it is recommended that the host port work closely with AAPA Membership Services Staff to determine setup of business meetings.

VII. Printed Materials for Convention Publicity/Information

A. Convention Logo

1. The Host Port will develop an official convention logo for use on all publicity materials. The logo will include the AAPA logo and the dates and year of the convention, and may also include the Host Port name and/or logo. The convention logo should be clear when reproduced at letterhead size C 2"x 2" or smaller.

B. The Official Convention Program

1. This can be a source of considerable advertising revenue and the Host Port is encouraged to develop its maximum potential. As part of the format used by the Host Port, the official program typically includes the following material to be provided by AAPA:
 - Welcome letters from the AAPA Chairman of the Board and the AAPA President
 - Rosters of Board of Directors and/or Executive Committee
 - List of exhibitors (and possibly the exhibitor roster with company descriptions)
 - List of future AAPA conventions
2. The host port should plan to print the final program no earlier than 1 month prior to the convention. The program, and all other printed material specific to the convention, should be reviewed by AAPA staff before publication.
3. There may be value in combining efforts to sell official program advertising space and exhibit space. The Host Port director and the President should explore this early on.
4. It is the responsibility of the Host Port to provide appropriate Spanish translation of the convention program and materials. Ideally, this would include translation of any convention web site and/or any online registration information.

C. Name Badges

1. The Host Port will provide convention name badges to all registrants, exhibitors, speakers, and staff. Each badge should feature the convention logo, the delegate's name and organization, and should be legible from a short distance. The Host Port will provide the exhibitor name badges to AAPA's exhibit manager 3 days prior to the Opening Ceremonies.

D. Signs

1. These are an important part of convention operations. Host Port should make arrangements for highly visible and attractive signs designating Committee Meetings, Caucuses, General Sessions, AAPA & Press Offices and Registration Area. See Attachment E for projected signage needs.
2. On-site placement of signs is the responsibility of the Host Port.

VIII. Convention Offices

- A. In formulating a space utilization plan, AAPA and the Host Port will designate two office areas to accommodate the following:
 - Host Port Office
 - AAPA Staff Office
1. The Host Port is responsible for providing supplies and equipment for the AAPA office. See Attachment D for projected office equipment and supply needs. All supply needs will be kept to a minimum.

IX. Miscellaneous Operations Guidelines

A. Registration

1. Registration – The Host Port is responsible for all registration procedures (except for the registration of exhibitors, which will be handled by AAPA's exhibit manager.) If registrations are done on-line, the Host Port should provide appropriate Spanish language translation. It is also highly recommended to have an individual who is fluent in Spanish to staff the on-site registration desk.
2. Registration Lists – Pre-convention registration lists should be available a week or two prior to the event and an updated list should be provided to AAPA for distribution to attendees immediately after the event. The final official registration list, including the number of partial and complimentary registrations (and number of spouses attending), should be submitted to AAPA Headquarters not later than 30 days after the close of the convention.

B. Opening Ceremonies

1. The Host Port will choreograph an Opening Ceremony to ring in the new convention. This ceremony, which typically lasts an hour, offers an excellent opportunity for the host port to present itself to the AAPA community.
2. Host Port will arrange for a group to play the National Anthem of the host country, and a color guard to present colors during the opening ceremonies.
3. Necessary AAPA business segments of the Opening Ceremony include the ringing of the Bell by the current Chairman of the Board, and brief responses to the Host Port's welcome by the leadership of all four AAPA delegations.
4. The flags of all AAPA member nations are to be displayed at the opening ceremony. AAPA will provide the flags to the Host Port three months before the convention to allow adequate time for correct hanging.
5. All opening ceremony arrangements shall be coordinated with AAPA and finalized 30 days prior to the convention.

C. Audio-Visual and Translation Needs

1. AAPA will advise the Host Port of its audio-visual equipment and translation needs at least 30 days prior to the convention. This information will include specific audio-visual equipment needs of speakers, and a list of the program segments for which translation should be provided. See Attachments F and G for projected AV and translating needs.
2. The Host Port should strongly consider using Cardiso, AAPA's regular translation service, which over the years has served an important role integrating the Latin Program into the overall Convention activities.

D. Head Table Guests at Luncheons

1. AAPA will coordinate with Host Port on the assignment of head table guests.
2. At each luncheon, Host Port should consider inviting three or four of its sponsors to sit at head table. Host Port will provide names of these guests to AAPA staff one week prior to convention and provide updates as soon as they are available.
3. AAPA staff will handle seating arrangements.

E. Invitations to Clergy

1. The Host Port traditionally arranges for clergy to give invocations at the opening ceremonies, luncheon programs and installation breakfast. Clergy will be seated at head table for luncheon programs (see above).

F. Social Activities

1. Information on planned evening functions and guest programs (including suggested attire) should be provided to attendees as early as possible.
2. Any guest programs scheduled for Tuesday of Convention week should not depart the hotel until the Opening Ceremonies have concluded.

G. Message Service, Announcements, Special Postings

1. An area centrally located to convention activities should be set aside for bulletin boards to prominently display resolutions to be considered by the membership and general program notes such as schedule changes, transportation schedules, etc.
2. The Host Port should plan to have someone available during regular hours to answer inquiries.

H. Coffee Service

1. The Host Port provides coffee and soft drink service (pastries optional) for morning and afternoon business sessions, and all AAPA business meetings. AAPA will provide Host Port a listing of its meetings at least 30 days prior to the convention. Such service should also be provided for those working in the convention office areas.

I. Speaker Gifts

1. The Host Port will provide appropriate speaker gifts to each speaker and moderator who volunteers their time to be part of the convention's business program. AAPA encourages the Host Port to select a gift which showcases the special nature of the region.

J. Insurance Policy

1. AAPA carries bodily injury and property damage liability insurance on each convention. Host Port might also wish to carry coverage for any accident to attendees resulting in possible suit.

K. Doctor

1. Plans should be made in advance to have the services of a doctor. Guests may require this type of service and it is best to line someone up in advance. There is always the possibility that the hotel will have a resident doctor; if this is the case, it would be wise to be in contact with him in advance. Procedures for health emergencies should be developed. The location of the closest preferred hospital should also be provided.

L. Photographer

1. The Host Port, at its discretion may provide an official convention photographer. See Attachment H for a list of required and suggested events to be photographed.

M. Official Airline/Car Rental

1. Any agreements designating an official airline or car rental company are to be between the designated firm and AAPA, with any resulting complimentary tickets/car rentals accruing to AAPA to reduce staff travel expenses.

Attachment B

Principal Items for Contract Negotiation for AAPA Annual Conventions

1. Suggested Room Block The Host Port is encouraged to review the prior hotel pick up information provided by previous hosts (see Attachment J) and to coordinate with AAPA on sleeping room needs prior to signing a hotel contract

Saturday	Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
75	250	300-350	300-350	300-350	250-300	75

2. Room Rates – A flat single/double rate is preferable. If hotel is unwilling to guarantee a fixed rate, there should be some sort of formula that establishes a maximum level of increase over a specific benchmark rate or a percentage off of published rack rates.

3. Meeting/Exhibit Space – All meeting/exhibit space should be complimentary, with all space being held when the contract is signed.

4. Complimentary/Discounted Sleeping Rooms – It is customary for contracts to provide 1/50 comp. rooms (and any suite needs for the Host Port). These 1/50 comp. rooms should be used to cover AAPA staff rooms that are typically covered by the Host Port. Additionally, contracts usually include:
 - One one-bedroom suite for AAPA Chairman, complimentary
 - One one-bedroom suite for AAPA President, complimentary
 - Twelve one-bedroom suites for AAPA Officers, at regular room group rate
 - Ten other rooms (that could be used for speakers and/or port staff)

5. Cut-off Date – This date should be as close to the convention date as possible, ideally 14 or 21 days, with reservations taken after that date still at the group rate.

Attachment C

Criteria for Hosting an AAPA Annual Convention

As a result of the significant size and scope of the AAPA Annual Convention and the significant Host Port responsibilities involved in the planning and execution of the event, a prospective Host Port should meet the following criteria in order to be considered by the Board of Directors as Host Port. These criteria may be updated and changed by the Board as required.

Location/Transportation

Because AAPA convention delegates originate throughout the Western Hemisphere, the Host Port must be easily accessible by air. An adequate airport served by a number of major airlines with many scheduled daily flights is required. The distance and travel costs from the airport to the convention site should not be unreasonable.

Transportation within the city is also critical. For instance, sufficient taxi service should be available for delegates to travel easily to and from restaurants during the evenings.

Facility Requirements

In terms of the hotel accommodations and meeting/exhibit space requirements listed below, any facilities, which are not already in existence, must be scheduled for completion within two years from the time of the bid.

Hotel Accommodations

A block of 350-400 rooms (with approximately 40% single rooms, 60% double rooms) is necessary. Ideally, at least 250 rooms should be in the headquarters hotel, with the rest in one (or at most two) overflow hotel(s). Overflow properties should be in reasonable proximity (generally within walking distance) to the meeting site. Only quality, full service hotels should be considered.

Meeting/Exhibition Space

A sizable amount of meeting and exhibit space is required for the Annual Convention. Preferably, this should be in the same facility as the bulk of the sleeping rooms. If the meeting site and sleeping rooms are not under the same roof, they should be within short walking distance of each other.

The meeting site must have the capability to accommodate a general session for 550 (theater style), a luncheon for 550, and room for at least 100 (8X10) exhibit booths (approximately 13,000-15,000 square feet.) Capability to handle up to 900-1,000 persons for an evening banquet is also required. In addition, approximately 12 breakout rooms of varying sizes are needed during the week for concurrent sessions, committee meetings, convention offices, etc.

Human Resources

A considerable amount of Host Port staff time is involved in the planning and execution of an AAPA convention. A prospective Host Port must have the capability and commitment to devote sufficient staff resources to the convention. Generally, recent experience has shown that one person should be assigned basically full-time for the full year prior to the convention, with an additional person assisting over the last 6 months. Approximately 15-20 Host Port staff persons are needed to cover the range of responsibilities immediately preceding and during the convention if an outside convention management firm is not employed.

Financial Resources

While registration fees cover a significant portion of the convention costs, additional funds are necessary to meet total expenses. Again, recent experience has shown that a prospective Host Port should anticipate the need to raise in the range of $400,000 or more from both local and non-local sponsors. Recent total convention budgets have been in the range of $1 million, not including staff resources.

Attachment D

AAPA Annual Convention Press/Promotions Policies for the Host Port

Promotional Materials

Although the host port does the design and printing of all promotional materials, we appreciate the opportunity to review, comment on design and proofread copy for brochures that go out on the convention.

Because it is the AAPA Convention, it is particularly important to keep the AAPA logo on any material that is distributed. Using the logo helps generate "brand awareness" of the Association.

Pre-Convention Media Outreach

Pre-convention media outreach from headquarters generally includes the following:

1. Information on the convention is mailed to trade publications for their calendar listings in January.
2. The initial press release with program details is mailed in the springtime (May or June).
3. A personal invitation to individual reporters goes out in June or July along with a registration package. Following the mailing, AAPA calls reporters to confirm attendance.
4. Another release is mailed and follow up calls are made to reporters in August or September, depending on when the meeting is to be held.
5. A media advisory is sent the week before with details on any last minute speakers.

On-Site Media Contacts

Registration

After confirming their attendance at the meeting, AAPA provides the host port with a list of national reporters who plan to attend the convention. A month and two weeks prior to the convention, the host port provides AAPA with a registration list of local and national reporters who plan to attend. Press badges should be a different color from the general registrants' badges.

AAPA ships press packets in advance to be given out at the registration desk. One person at the registration desk should be the designated press contact (with appropriate signage), so that we can work with them to keep tabs on who shows up.

Fees

Local Reporters

Generally the host port contacts local reporters to personally invite them to attend the annual convention. A press release several months out, followed by an update a month in advance, followed by a media advisory the week before the convention should provide enough opportunity to inform the reporters (print and broadcast) about the program. If there are any special guests or dignitaries who will be attending, a second media advisory and a phone call the day before is appropriate.

Interviews

The AAPA President and officers are available for interviews within narrow time slots throughout the convention. Please direct reporters to the staff office if they would like to coordinate interviews.

Press Releases

If there is enough news, AAPA may issue a daily release from the convention, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Copies would be available by 10 a.m. each morning, and the headquarters office in Alexandria distributes to our general lists at the same time.

Press Briefing/Event

A press briefing is sometimes held during the convention. This typically includes the AAPA Chairman of the Board and Chairman of the Board-Elect.

Daily Newsletters

The host port may choose to print a daily convention newsletter, which is distributed on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The newsletter relates news of the previous day's events and future events; provides biographies on speakers; lists fun facts about AAPA and the host port; and whatever the host port deems appropriate and of interest to delegates. To produce the newsletters, we recommend the following:

1. Editor should discuss the dailies with AAPA staff before the convention begins. (AAPA can, on request, provide on diskette, background information, speaker bios, etc.) Draft copies of the daily issues can be formatted in advance.
2. Editor should use a computer on-site (at the hotel), as well as staff room copying facilities with sorting and stapling capabilities. (Final edits are made the evening before the issue is released.)
3. The editor should remind other host port staff to feed final changes to him/her by end of each day to be included in the newsletter.
4. To distribute the newsletters, the hotel should set up separate tables near the breakfast tables in the exhibit hall and in the foyer. During the rest of the week, newsletters should be placed around the breakfast area or placed on chairs in general sessions.

Audio Visual Needs

Some AAPA committee meetings may require microphones and other A/V set-up (see Attachment A.) For every general and concurrent workshop session, the following equipment should be available. On days with concurrent sessions, equipment will be needed in two rooms.

The equipment listed below is offered to AAPA speakers as a standard option. If a speaker requests more elaborate equipment, it is the host port's discretion as to whether the cost will be covered by the host port or the speaker.

- LCD projector for laptop (PowerPoint) presentations with remote control
