What is the EASY Card?

- Think of the EASY Card as a transit debit card. You select the amount of money you want to load onto the card and your fare is deducted each time you ride transit.

- The EASY Card is part of Miami-Dade Transit's new automated fare collection system. New fareboxes with "smart card" technology are currently installed on buses. Installation of new fare gates at Metrorail stations is expected to begin in early 2009.

EASY Card

- Visitors and people who are not daily commuters can take advantage of the EASY Ticket. It works like the EASY Card, but it's only good for 60 days.

How do I pay my fare?

- Once you have your EASY Card loaded with money, to board a bus or train, simply tap the card on the card reader, which is clearly marked on the bus farebox or Metrorail faregate. Your fare will automatically be deducted from the cash amount stored on your EASY Card. Transfers are also automatically deducted as needed.

- On Metrobus, you can continue paying with cash; however, pennies are no longer accepted and tokens will be phased out.

- On Metrorail, you will need to use your EASY Card to enter and exit the station. Cash will not be accepted. You can also use your card to pay your Metrorail parking fee.
