Get Connected!

Have you imagined a boardwalk along the Biscayne Bay shore all the way from Aventura to Cutler Bay, where people can bike, walk and run? If you would like to be part of such a planning effort for a public infrastructure in Miami-Dade County, consider being a part of the

Biscayne Bay Shoreline Review Committee

Biscayne Bay Shoreline Review Committee is made up of architects, planners and others interested in Shoreline Preservation in Miami-Dade County. This group along with county staff, meet with developers/architects and review development projects within the Shoreline boundary. Members of this voluntary board will determine if a project meets the design guidelines set by county code and recommend design alternates that will contribute to creating a public amenity along the Biscayne Bay shoreline.

This is a perfect opportunity for the design community of architects, urban planners, landscape architects to influence and recommend improvements to provide better visual and physical access to the water.
