

Designate a beneficiary this holiday season

This year, you might be feeling more thankful than ever to get together with family. Being together with family and friends is also a good time to discuss important conversations like beneficiary designations.

- It is in your best interest to designate, even if you believe the selected individual would receive the proceeds by default. Designating will eliminate confusion, save time and ensure the benefit gets to your intended beneficiary.
- It is important to review your designation regularly, as major life events such as marriage, divorce, the birth or adoption of a child, and death may dramatically alter your priorities.
- Beneficiary designation records are managed online, making it convenient for you to complete, review and update your designations at any time.
